Some reasons how people get bullied is because somebody could bump into someone and that person that got bumped could think it was on purpose but, it was not.

If you are picked on it could be because you have glasses. But if you did have glasses you should not be bullied just because of that!

You could also be bullied because you were playing dodge ball in gym and you hit somebody. That person that you hit got really mad and the started to bully you and pick on you. But you should not be bullied because thats how you play the game.

One time my brother and I were fighting for fun and then he started to get mad at me. He was really trying to hurt me this time. I was really mad at him. I did not think it was fair because I got yelled at.

All bullies should treat others the way they want to be treated!
