Some reasons people get bullied are that they are different than others. If you move from another country, it might be hard to "fit in." My friend is from Poland and she's nice enough. If you have dark skin or glasses, usually bullies try to make you feel intimidated. Sometimes they don't have any friends. People are bullied for various reasons. Usually it's just that bullies are envious of you. Sometimes it's your hair or eye color. People who bully others are very unfair and people should try to ignore them. It usually works. No one deserves to be bullied for any reason. Even if someone is different, try to make them feel welcome. They are probably really nice. Don't be a bully! Be nice to new kids and try to help them learn things.
