Dad Bully's !!!

I don't think bullying is right at all. There are many possible reasons why a bully could be bullying someone. For instance someone could be bullied because of their size, color or even just the way they look. Bullying is definitely not right, but if you see the feeling in that person you might see that they're sad, frustrated and maybe mad. So I say give it a shot. Stand up for what's right!

There are many reasons why a bully might be bullying another person. The bully might have been bullied by someone else, got hurt by (emotionally) it, and let out their frustration and anger on someone innocent. They also might not have much control over there body. Why do bullies have to be so complicated???

Standing up to a bully is not the easiest thing to do. Even getting close to a bully might sound frightening to some kids. But if you can let go of those fears knowing that your going to get a thousand weights lifted of your shoulders and no more bullying. I think it's going to be so much easier! GOOD LUCK!!!

Bullying is not right but stopping it is. So know what the bully is feeling, get your clues together and fight back!!!!!!
