HONORARY DEGREES

---

The Honorable Stephen F. Lynch
United States Congressman

The Honorable Stephen F. Lynch serves in the United States House of Representatives, where he has represented portions of Eastern Massachusetts since 2001. The son of an iron worker and a postal clerk, a structural iron worker for 18 years, and the youngest president of Boston's Ironworkers Union Local 7, his entire career has been dedicated to serving working men and women. He has been a powerful and consistent voice for protecting workers' rights and championing the well-being of working families. A co-founder of the Congressional Labor and Working Families Caucus, he has been a leader throughout his career in protecting and growing American jobs, increasing the minimum wage, enhancing financial aid to expand access to college, redressing inequities in our health care system, reinforcing Social Security and ensuring that our veterans have the support they need whether on the battlefield or the home front. Congressman Lynch serves as the chairman of the Oversight Subcommittee on National Security and the chair of the Financial Services Committee Task Force on Financial Technology. His leadership in creating and upgrading our national and international systems for tracking and stopping the flow of funds to terrorist groups has significantly strengthened U.S. national security. Congressman Lynch earned his BS from Wentworth Institute of Technology, a JD from Boston College Law School and his MPA from Harvard University.

Dr. Dana Mohler-Faria
President Emeritus of Bridgewater State University

Dr. Dana Mohler-Faria was the first person of color to lead Bridgewater State University and, at the time he became president in 2002, was only the second Cape Verdean in the United States to be appointed a president of a higher education institution.

Dr. Mohler-Faria's extraordinary 13 years as president of Bridgewater State University was one of the most transformative periods in the university's history. Through his leadership, BSU was elevated to university status in 2010; experienced extraordinary growth, including record student enrollments and degrees awarded; more than doubled the number of students of color; and significantly increased the number of full-time faculty. BSU also undertook the largest planned expansion of the campus itself, investing more than $400 million in new residence halls, a state-of-the-art science and mathematics facility and new greenspace with the creation of University Park. During Dr. Mohler-Faria's tenure, BSU inaugurated or expanded numerous initiatives and programs: investing in and expanding undergraduate research, globalizing the curriculum by forging partnerships with more than 40 international higher education institutions, and raising the retention and graduation rates for all students.

The cornerstone of his presidency was a deep commitment to social justice, which manifested itself here and abroad, through initiatives such as the Bridge Partnership program, establishing a relationship with Pine Ridge Indian Reservation, expanding the Water for Cambodia program, and inaugurating a fruitful partnership with the nation of Cape Verde. Dr. Mohler-Faria earned his associate's degree from Cape Cod Community College, bachelor's and master's degrees from Boston University and a Doctor of Education degree from the University of Massachusetts Amherst.

The Honorable Therese Murray
Former President of the Massachusetts Senate

The Honorable Therese Murray served as the first woman president of the Massachusetts Senate from 2007–2015. First appointed to the Senate in 1992, Senator Murray achieved a remarkable record of advocacy and accomplishment on behalf of children and reform in critical areas of health care, education, transportation, ethics and economic growth. Over the course of her 22-year career of public service to the people of Plymouth and Barnstable counties, she deeply touched and improved the lives of thousands of people by advancing mental health parity; bolstering the children’s mental health system; expanding access to and controlling costs of health care; reducing business costs and stimulating economic investment and job creation; reforming Chapter 70 educational funding; and restoring trust in government by strengthening state ethics and hiring practices. Senator Murray was instrumental in positioning Massachusetts as a leader in biotechnology and in supporting the state’s biotech industry. She was awarded the Medal of St. Olga in Pskov, Russia, for her leadership on children’s health, and in 2016 was recognized by Irish President Michael Higgins for her work on cross-border issues between Ireland and Northern Ireland. Senator Murray attended Northeastern University and El Camino College in California, earned a management certification from the University of Massachusetts Boston, and was awarded an honorary master’s in public health from the University of Plymouth in the United Kingdom.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARDS

Ms. Linda Coombs
Museum Professional and Historian from the
Wampanoag Tribe of Gay Head (Aquinnah)

Ms. Linda Coombs is a museum professional and historian from the Wampanoag Tribe of Gay Head (Aquinnah). She began her career at the Boston Children’s Museum, served for 30 years in the Wampanoag Indigenous Program at Plimoth Patuxet and nine years as program director of the Aquinnah Cultural Center. Her work in authentically telling American history from the perspective of Indigenous peoples, often in the face of hostility, has been a testament to her personal courage and respect for the truth. Through her writing, speaking and service, Ms. Coombs has profoundly shaped how educators teach history, from the age of “discovery” and colonization to Thanksgiving. She had a major impact on how the Town of Plymouth commemorated the 400th anniversary of the Mayflower voyage by including the native Wampanoag voice that was suppressed in previous centennial anniversaries. As part of the commemoration, Ms. Coombs created the concept and themes of the Indigenous History Conference as one of Plymouth 400’s signature events.

Dr. Gary E. Maestas
Former Superintendent of Plymouth Public Schools

Dr. Gary E. Maestas served as superintendent of Plymouth Public Schools from 2008–2020. As superintendent, he profoundly impacted the district, positioning it for lasting success, advancing educational quality and preparing thousands of students for success and the duties of responsible citizenship. Measures of student achievement significantly improved under his watch, including tripling the number of students taking AP courses. The construction of two new high schools may have been the most visible manifestation of his tenure, but the real measure of Dr. Maestas’ leadership was in the extraordinary relationships and partnerships he forged among teachers, administrators, students and families. Dr. Maestas also has been a valued partner with BSU, serving as a senior visiting lecturer and, most recently, collaborating on the development of The Massachusetts Chronicles. Sixty-thousand copies of this first-of-its-kind history of our state have been distributed at no cost to all 1,854 public schools in Massachusetts. Dr. Maestas earned his undergraduate degree from New Mexico Highlands University, a master’s degree in education from Springfield College, and his EdD from Regent University.

The Honorable Stephen F. Lynch
United States Congressman

The Honorable Stephen F. Lynch serves in the United States House of Representatives, where he has represented portions of Eastern Massachusetts since 2001. The son of an iron worker and a postal clerk, a structural iron worker for 18 years, and the youngest president of Boston's Ironworkers Union Local 7, his entire career has been dedicated to serving working men and women. He has been a powerful and consistent voice for protecting workers' rights and championing the well-being of working families. A co-founder of the Congressional Labor and Working Families Caucus, he has been a leader throughout his career in protecting and growing American jobs, increasing the minimum wage, enhancing financial aid to expand access to college, redressing inequities in our health care system, reinforcing Social Security and ensuring that our veterans have the support they need whether on the battlefield or the home front. Congressman Lynch serves as the chairman of the Oversight Subcommittee on National Security and the chair of the Financial Services Committee Task Force on Financial Technology. His leadership in creating and upgrading our national and international systems for tracking and stopping the flow of funds to terrorist groups has significantly strengthened U.S. national security. Congressman Lynch earned his BS from Wentworth Institute of Technology, a JD from Boston College Law School and his MPA from Harvard University.

Dr. Dana Mohler-Faria
President Emeritus of Bridgewater State University

Dr. Dana Mohler-Faria was the first person of color to lead Bridgewater State University and, at the time he became president in 2002, was only the second Cape Verdean in the United States to be appointed a president of a higher education institution.

Dr. Mohler-Faria's extraordinary 13 years as president of Bridgewater State University was one of the most transformative periods in the university's history. Through his leadership, BSU was elevated to university status in 2010; experienced extraordinary growth, including record student enrollments and degrees awarded; more than doubled the number of students of color; and significantly increased the number of full-time faculty. BSU also undertook the largest planned expansion of the campus itself, investing more than $400 million in new residence halls, a state-of-the-art science and mathematics facility and new greenspace with the creation of University Park. During Dr. Mohler-Faria's tenure, BSU inaugurated or expanded numerous initiatives and programs: investing in and expanding undergraduate research, globalizing the curriculum by forging partnerships with more than 40 international higher education institutions, and raising the retention and graduation rates for all students.

The cornerstone of his presidency was a deep commitment to social justice, which manifested itself here and abroad, through initiatives such as the Bridge Partnership program, establishing a relationship with Pine Ridge Indian Reservation, expanding the Water for Cambodia program, and inaugurating a fruitful partnership with the nation of Cape Verde. Dr. Mohler-Faria earned his associate's degree from Cape Cod Community College, bachelor's and master's degrees from Boston University and a Doctor of Education degree from the University of Massachusetts Amherst.

HONORARY DEGREES

The Honorable Therese Murray
Former President of the Massachusetts Senate

The Honorable Therese Murray served as the first woman president of the Massachusetts Senate from 2007–2015. First appointed to the Senate in 1992, Senator Murray achieved a remarkable record of advocacy and accomplishment on behalf of children and reform in critical areas of health care, education, transportation, ethics and economic growth. Over the course of her 22-year career of public service to the people of Plymouth and Barnstable counties, she deeply touched and improved the lives of thousands of people by advancing mental health parity; bolstering the children’s mental health system; expanding access to and controlling costs of health care; reducing business costs and stimulating economic investment and job creation; reforming Chapter 70 educational funding; and restoring trust in government by strengthening state ethics and hiring practices. Senator Murray was instrumental in positioning Massachusetts as a leader in biotechnology and in supporting the state’s biotech industry. She was awarded the Medal of St. Olga in Pskov, Russia, for her leadership on children’s health, and in 2016 was recognized by Irish President Michael Higgins for her work on cross-border issues between Ireland and Northern Ireland. Senator Murray attended Northeastern University and El Camino College in California, earned a management certification from the University of Massachusetts Boston, and was awarded an honorary master’s in public health from the University of Plymouth in the United Kingdom.

Ms. Linda Coombs
Museum Professional and Historian from the
Wampanoag Tribe of Gay Head (Aquinnah)

Ms. Linda Coombs is a museum professional and historian from the Wampanoag Tribe of Gay Head (Aquinnah). She began her career at the Boston Children's Museum, served for 30 years in the Wampanoag Indigenous Program at Plimoth Patuxet and nine years as program director of the Aquinnah Cultural Center. Her work in authentically telling American history from the perspective of Indigenous peoples, often in the face of hostility, has been a testament to her personal courage and respect for the truth. Through her writing, speaking and service, Ms. Coombs has profoundly shaped how educators teach history, from the age of "discovery" and colonization to Thanksgiving. She had a major impact on how the Town of Plymouth commemorated the 400th anniversary of the Mayflower voyage by including the native Wampanoag voice that was suppressed in previous centennial anniversaries. As part of the commemoration, Ms. Coombs created the concept and themes of the Indigenous History Conference as one of Plymouth 400's signature events.

Dr. Gary E. Maestas
Former Superintendent of Plymouth Public Schools

Dr. Gary E. Maestas served as superintendent of Plymouth Public Schools from 2008–2020. As superintendent, he profoundly impacted the district, positioning it for lasting success, advancing educational quality and preparing thousands of students for success and the duties of responsible citizenship. Measures of student achievement significantly improved under his watch, including tripling the number of students taking AP courses. The construction of two new high schools may have been the most visible manifestation of his tenure, but the real measure of Dr. Maestas' leadership was in the extraordinary relationships and partnerships he forged among teachers, administrators, students and families. Dr. Maestas also has been a valued partner with BSU, serving as a senior visiting lecturer and, most recently, collaborating on the development of The Massachusetts Chronicles. Sixty-thousand copies of this first-of-its-kind history of our state have been distributed at no cost to all 1,854 public schools in Massachusetts. Dr. Maestas earned his undergraduate degree from New Mexico Highlands University, a master's degree in education from Springfield College, and his EdD from Regent University.

ACADEMIC HERALDRY

Academic Regalia

The caps and gowns featured in the academic procession date back to the Middle Ages, when they were common dress. Everyone – men and women, royalty and peasantry – wore long-flowing robes, and the king decreed what quality of apparel was to be worn by whom. For academics, donning the cap and gown was both ceremonial and practical. The particular variety worn was not only a mark of distinction for the academic elite, but was fashioned to insulate the scholar from the damp, drafty castles and reading halls of the 12th century. The hood first appeared as a separate article of clothing in the 13th century, and by the 1600s, much like the gown, ceased to be worn by all but legal, official, academic and clerical personages.

University statutes aimed at distinguishing the faculties and their degrees of learning have traditionally prescribed the parameters by which academic regalia are worn. In today's academic procession, the regalia not only contribute pageantry and color to the celebration, but also provide information about the academic status of the wearers. The cap, or mortarboard, is worn by all academics upon occasion, but only those who hold an academic degree are permitted to wear the tassel to the left. Gowns are of three basic patterns: the bachelor's gown, of unadorned black and with long pointed sleeves; the master's gown, also of unadorned black but with oblong sleeves, open at the wrist and square cut; and the doctor's gown, velvet-faced, with bell-shaped sleeves and bars of color.

Hoods, too, are of three basic shapes and lengths, corresponding to the degree held by the wearer. Their binding of trim is colored to indicate the department to which the degree pertains, while the lining is decorated in the colors of the institution that awarded the degree.

Honors Cords and Sashes

As a symbol of the university's pride in the academic accomplishments of its students, undergraduates whose outstanding achievements have earned them cum laude, magna cum laude or summa cum laude status or who have earned Commonwealth Honors and/or Departmental Honors, are recognized with distinctive regalia worn with their caps and gowns.

White Cords: Members of the class graduating cum laude (grade point average between 3.3 and 3.59 on a 4.0 scale) are wearing double white cords.

Red and White Cords: Members of the class graduating magna cum laude (grade point average of between 3.6 and 3.79 on a 4.0 scale) are wearing red and white cords.

Red, White and Gold Cords: Members of the class graduating summa cum laude (grade point average of 3.8 or higher on a 4.0 scale) are wearing red, white and gold cords.

Gold Sash with University Seal in Red: Members of the class graduating with Commonwealth Honors (maintaining at least a 3.3 grade point average and completing 21 honors credits culminating in the writing of an honors thesis in their major) are wearing gold sashes emblazoned with Commonwealth Honors and the university seal in red.

Silver Sash with University Seal in Red: Members of the class graduating with Departmental Honors (maintaining at least a 3.0 grade point average and completing nine honors credits including the writing of an honors thesis in their major) are wearing silver sashes emblazoned with Departmental Honors and the university seal in red. In addition, a number of departmental academic honor societies encourage members to wear cords, sashes or medallions associated with the society.

Kente Cloth Stoles

The Kente cloth stole is presented to graduating seniors who celebrate, appreciate and foster cultural diversity. This silk, handwoven cloth has its origin in Ghana, West Africa, home of the Ashanti people. It was traditionally worn by royalty and distinguished personalities for solemn occasions. In more recent history, the Kente cloth has become a symbol of perseverance, unity and success for students of color on many college and university campuses. Each stole is adorned with Adinkra symbols that represent wisdom and the lifelong pursuit of knowledge.

UNIVERSITY MACE

The mace, once an instrument of medieval close combat, has come to symbolize the entity that is a college or university. Many institutions, eager to engage in the pageantry of the earliest academies, have adapted the mace as a ceremonial staff borne at the head of processions traditionally marking the beginning of an inauguration, convocation or commencement. The mace of Bridgewater State University was designed by the late John Heller, professor in the university's Department of Art, and was first used at spring commencement in 1992. It features both the seals of the university and of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

---

The presidential medallion symbolizes the power, responsibility and sanctity of the Office of the President and is typically reserved for ceremonial occasions. Also designed by the late Professor Heller, Bridgewater State University's presidential medallion is made of silver and gold and features the inscribed names of the university's 12 presidents. The medallion was a gift from the Class of 1972.

HISTORY OF THE UNIVERSITY

The spirit, vision and leadership of Horace Mann, America's father of public education and its strongest advocate, lives on more than 180 years after Bridgewater State University first opened its doors for the purpose of training teachers. His belief, not only in the importance of public education, but also in standardizing – or normalizing – the training of teachers, led to the establishment of normal schools. In 1840, Bridgewater became the third such school in the commonwealth and, along with its sister institutions, developed a comprehensive approach to teacher training that became a model emulated throughout the country and across the globe.

Bridgewater Normal School grew as the educational needs of society evolved. Not only were more and better-qualified teachers essential to a healthy and prosperous citizenry, but also the demand for a college-level liberal arts curriculum required that the Massachusetts General Court expand course offerings at the normal schools and establish public institutions of higher education.

Today, Bridgewater State University is the comprehensive university of Southeastern Massachusetts and the third largest public university – 10th largest overall, public or private – in the commonwealth. With an enrollment of more than 10,000 students, Bridgewater State University provides a wide range of academic programs and innovative learning experiences inside and outside the classroom. The university grants approximately 2,500 degrees and certificates each year.

The university offers more than 100 academic programs through its six colleges: the College of Education and Health Sciences; the College of Humanities and Social Sciences; the Louis M. Ricciardi College of Business; the Bartlett College of Science and Mathematics; the College of Graduate Studies; and the College of Continuing Studies.

Despite the transformation of the campus over the past two decades and growth in student population, Bridgewater State University remains committed to small class sizes and extraordinary teaching and mentoring by a world-class faculty. Bridgewater affords students of all ages and backgrounds access to a variety of excellent opportunities for learning and personal growth such as undergraduate research (ranked among the top programs nationally by the Council on Undergraduate Research), study abroad (more than 250 programs in more than 50 countries), service learning, internships and participation in an array of social justice initiatives. BSU has been named one of the top Fulbright-producing institutions in the country, and two students have received prestigious Goldwater Scholarships for excellence in natural science, engineering and mathematics in the past two years. Bridgewater graduate students historically have had among the highest first-time CPA exam pass rates of any university in Massachusetts.

Bridgewater's commitment to student success has earned national recognition (ranked ninth in the nation by The Education Trust for simultaneously closing achievement gaps while improving graduation and retention rates for all students). BSU was ranked as the second leading university in Massachusetts for advancing the social mobility of students from a wide range of socioeconomic backgrounds and identities.

All the while, Bridgewater continues to be one of the most prolific producers of new preK-12 teachers in the state and readies more science and mathematics teachers annually than any institution in Massachusetts. The university has been named an Apple College of Distinction award winner across the U.S. for its iPad initiative in the College of Education and Health Sciences.

During the COVID-19 pandemic, Bridgewater continued to serve its students by shifting almost all of its course offerings to fully or partially online formats; continuing to house and feed residence hall students; offering full academic and wellness student support services remotely; and keeping the campus safe, by administering more than 39,000 COVID-19 tests (with less than 1% positive rate) and implementing one of the most rigorous contact tracing protocols in the state.

Bridgewater State University's proud tradition of providing opportunity – to learn by doing, to serving the world and the region, to teaching and learning, to discovering career paths, and dedication to making dreams a reality – have created the thriving, dynamic institution we see today.
