

Program Educational Outcomes

These outcomes represent our expected outcomes for recent graduates of our computer science program

- Graduates will exercise the professional and social skills needed to both work both self directed or in teams to succeed in careers in computer science or related fields
- Graduates will exercise ethical awareness and conduct needed to succeed in their careers.
- Graduates opting for graduate studies will be successful in graduate school
- Graduates will avail themselves of opportunities to continue their professional development.
- Graduates will consider the social consequences of computing