

Economic and Financial Principles for You, Your Community, and the World

NEW COURSE! No doubt that the economy affects us all! But, our individual activities influence the economy too! In fact, climate change, species extinction, obesity, investment returns are all tied to the economy and our individual actions! Would you like to have a better understanding of how the national, state and your local economy influences your life and finances? Our actions affect economic outcomes! Come join our economic and financial literacy workshop, Economic and Financial Principles.

Dates: October 5, 12, 19, 26, November 2 at 6:00 p.m. – 7:30 p.m.

Instructor Bio: Madhavi Venkatesan earned a PhD, MA, and BA in Economics from Vanderbilt University, a Masters in Sustainability and Environmental Management from Harvard University, and a Masters in Environmental Law and Policy from Vermont Law School. She has contributed to numerous books and journal articles on the subject of sustainability and economics. In 2017, she was awarded the Fulbright CySip Distinguished Lectureship to the Philippines and has been the recipient of other grants and awards related to her interests in sustainable economic development. Her present academic interests include the integration of sustainability into the economics curriculum. Prior to re-entering academics, Madhavi held senior level positions in investor relations for three Fortune 250 companies. In this capacity she was a key point of contact for investors and stakeholders and was instrumental in the development of socially responsible investing strategies and corporate social responsibility reporting. She started her financial services career after completing her post-doctoral fellowship at Washington University in St. Louis. Madhavi resides on Cape Cod, Massachusetts with her son and their two dogs, Oscar and Oliver.

Registration Fee: $89

Register here