

Read to Me: Sharing Picture Books with your Children and Grandchildren

NEW COURSE! Come be surrounded with colorful, captivating picture books - from cherished classics to the latest publications! Listen to, read, and evaluate a wide variety of picture books that will entertain and inform children and grandchildren - from toddlers to teens. Discover picture books that introduce and reinforce specific mathematics skills. Discuss picture books that mark key moments in history or raise important social issues. Explore picture books written about Cape Cod. Learn the latest techniques for sharing picture books with young readers. Take part in hands-on activities that will extend the learning after the last page of the book ends. Each participant will be given a comprehensive list of picture books recommended by the author. Participants are welcome to bring their favorite picture book to share with the class.

Date: Tuesday, 2:00 pm-4:00 pm
10/24

Registration Fee: $39 for this individual course, or register for all three of Nancy's courses for $99 and save $17! (A Sticky Situation: Boston's Great Molasses Flood and Hail to the Chief: Presidential Pets are Nancy's other courses, see descriptions above).

Register here

Instructor Bio: Nancy A. Franks retired in 2016 after thirty-two years as an elementary educator in Plymouth, Massachusetts. Within her successful career, Nancy taught graduate courses, authored four resource books for educators, and presented at national conventions. She earned numerous awards including the Presidential Award For Excellence in Mathematics Teaching, the highest honor a mathematics educator can hope to achieve. Nancy is currently the coordinator of Massachusetts Maritime Academy's Follow The Voyage – Share The Experience Program. She enjoys doing research on a wide variety of topics and sharing her discoveries with both children and adults.